Welcome and Opening Remarks

Julie Bynum, Associate Professor of Medicine, The Dartmouth Institute for Health Policy & Clinical Practice, The Geisel School of Medicine at Dartmouth, The Long Reach Of Alzheimer’s Disease: Patients, Practice, And Policy

Introduced by Sarah Dine, Senior Deputy Editor, Health Affairs

Keynote

Richard Hodes, Director, National Institute on Aging, National Institutes of Health

Overview

Bart Peterson, Senior Vice President, Corporate Affairs and Communications, Eli Lilly and Company

Jason Karlawish, Professor of Medicine, Medical Ethics, and Health Policy, University of Pennsylvania, How Are We Going To Live With Alzheimer’s Disease?

Howard M. Fillit, Executive Director, Alzheimer's Drug Discovery Foundation, Unintended Benefits: The Potential Economic Impact Of Addressing Risk Factors To Prevent Alzheimer’s Disease

Q & A

Research Challenges

Laurie Ryan, Program Director, Alzheimer’s Disease Clinical Trials, National Institute on Aging, National Institutes of Health Obstacles And Opportunities In Alzheimer’s Clinical Trial Recruitment

Roy Twyman, Vice President, Alzheimer’s Disease Research, Janssen Research & Development, LLC

Lisa L. Barnes, Professor, Departments of Neurological Sciences, Behavioral Sciences, and Rush Alzheimer’s Disease Center, Rush University Medical Center, Alzheimer’s Disease in African Americans: Risk Factors And Challenges For The Future

Q & A

National Agendas

Robert Egge, Vice President of Public Policy and Advocacy, Alzheimer’s Association, The Alzheimer’s Study Group’s Research Recommendations Five Years Later: Planning Has Advanced, But Agenda Remains Unfinished

David Hoffman, Director, Bureau of Chronic Disease Prevention and Control, Office of Long Term Care, New York State Department of Health, Alzheimer’s Disease Legislation and Policy: Now And In The Future

Richard H. Fortinsky, Professor of Medicine and Health Net, Inc. Endowed Chair in Geriatrics and Gerontology, University of Connecticut Center on Aging, Optimizing Person-Centered Transitions In The Dementia Journey: A Comparison Of National Dementia Strategies

Q & A
Continued

11:15 a.m.

Models of Patient Care and Caregiver Support

Christopher M. Callahan, Professor of Medicine / Cornelius & Yvonne Pettinga Professor of Medicine, Indiana University, THE CARE SPAN: Redesigning Systems Of Care For Older Adults With Alzheimer's Disease

Dustin D. French, Assistant Professor of Ophthalmology and Center for Healthcare Studies - Institute for Public Health and Medicine, Northwestern University, Healthy Aging Brain Center Improved Care Coordination And Produced Net Savings

Mary S. Mittelman, Research Professor, Department of Psychiatry, NYU Langone Medical Center, THE CARE SPAN: Translating Research Into Practice: Case Study Of A Community-Based Dementia Caregiver Intervention

Gary Epstein-Lubow, Assistant Professor, Psychiatry & Human Behavior; Health Services, Policy & Practice, Brown University, NARRATIVE MATTERS: A Family Disease: Witnessing Firsthand The Toll That Dementia Takes On Caregivers

Q & A

Noon

End-Of-Life Care

Lauren H. Nicholas, Assistant Professor, Health Policy and Management, Johns Hopkins University, Advance Directives And Nursing Home Stays Associated With Less Aggressive End-of-Life Care For Patients With Severe Dementia

Zhanlian Feng, Senior Research Public Health Analyst, Aging, Disability, and Long-Term Care, RTI International, Hospital And ED Use Among Medicare Beneficiaries With Dementia Varies Varies by Setting And Proximity To Death

Q & A

12:30 p.m.

Adjourn